III. Brief Background of the Event

In 22-23 November 2010, civil society representatives from nine Asian Least Developed Countries (LDCs) met in Bangkok, Thailand to review progress corresponding to Brussels Programme of Action (BPoA) and the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), and to firm up civil society positions in the lead-up to the Fourth UN Conference on LDCs (UN LDC-IV), to be held in Istanbul, Turkey from 9-13 May 2011.

Two of the representatives of CSO from Myanmar were given the chance to attend this meeting and were inspired to spread awareness of this information from the grassroots level to the national level. Also Dr. Arjun Karki, International Coordinator of LDC watch and his team suggested that this meeting be organised in Myanmar.

We successfully finished the National Consultations on the Implementation of the Brussels Programme of Action (BPoA) for the Least Developed Countries at the Summit Parkview Hotel, Yangon, Myanmar on 14 March 2011 with the support of Dr. Arjun Karki and the LDC Watch team.

Curriculum Vitae (Dr. Khin Zaw Win)

Myanmar citizen, residing in Myanmar; Served under Department of Health, Myanmar, at Taunggyi and Yangon General Hospital, and under Ministry of Health, Sabah, Malaysia.

Worked at International Development Enterprises, an INGO, from 2008-10. It included rural development, cyclone relief and agricultural policy. At present Director of Tampadipa Institute, which builds capacity for civil society organizations around the country.

Also occupied with explaining and helping overcome the long-standing situation of a country caught in political stasis, unbalanced development, unending armed conflict and geopolitical rivalry.

Abstract of Closing remark by Dr. Khin Zaw Win:

“I am very happy and I feel privileged to be speaking here at what is perhaps the first ever discussion on LDCs here in Myanmar by civil society. As we all know, Myanmar was classified as a LDC in December 1987 and Myanmar’s problems in that regard are two-fold: one in becoming a LDC and two, in being denied the benefits and assistance that are supposed to accrue upon a LDC.
The decade of the BPoA coincided with a long period of political impasse in Myanmar’s lengthy and difficult transition to democracy. I have said elsewhere that what are non-solutions to Myanmar’s political problems have imposed huge costs upon the population. Myanmar is unique in that, after being declared a LDC, the burdens have increased in many respects due to the ongoing political deadlock.

Many of Myanmar’s development partners appear to have neglected the fact that it is a LDC. There is little mention of it anywhere, since the status for Myanmar is somewhat meaningless. Myanmar’s distancing from the IFIs means that there is no effort to undertake a PRSP. The government is clearly uncomfortable with the LDC status and plays it down. Donors on their side do not wish to focus on it because it could highlight the dissonance: the withholding of aid and the imposition of sanctions on a LDC.

I would like to quote from a recent International Crisis Group report:

The longstanding and serious failures of the Myanmar government have resulted in a country that faces multiple crises. But international policies are also failing Myanmar and its people. Chronically low levels of aid, a lack of vital technical assistance and capacity building, and a stubborn insistence by some within the West to cling to failed policies of sanctions and isolation, have only served to exacerbate the negative impacts of poor governance.

Right now, the EU is debating whether it should continue its sanctions upon Myanmar or not. It is hoped that Myanmar’s acute situation shall be given due attention at the UN LDC IV Conference in May. It is one of my cherished dreams that Myanmar shall graduate from LDC status, something that requires assiduous effort and progress in both political transition and economic development.”

V. Remarks and discussions from the participants

- Dr. Aung Tun Thet (UNDP): The government officials/counterparts should be included in this kind of consultation.

- Isaac Khin (GDI): The BPoA should be shared and spread out among the development agents and organizations. We have accountable for LDC. Achieving of MDG the solidarity of all stakeholders NGOs, INGOs, members of parliaments and private sectors should work closely.

- HE. Ms. Gunalaxmi Sharma (Ambassador of Nepal): Status of women’s organization should be included in LDC criteria

- Myo Win (Smile Education): Economic sanction on Myanmar has being shared to LDC status, it should be target sanction.

- Kyaw Swar Pu (UNHCR): The relationship among UN, government and CSO is very dynamic. Inclusiveness is very important. CSO like dental association, Nurses association, Myanmar Medical association, UMFCCI and faith-based organization are very important to be involved.
